Tashir at the opening of Mapic Russia 2018

MAPIC Russia (formerly, REX), a commercial real estate exhibition and forum, opened at Moscow's Expocentre today. The exhibition will be open until April 26.

This is the fifth time that Tashir Group, being Russia's leading developer, takes part in the exhibition and presents its current projects in commercial real estate at a special stand. For the exhibition, the group selected some of its well-known projects, such as RIO, a nationwide chain of shopping centers, as well as some new projects: for instance, four transport hubs in Moscow and the multifunctional complexes on Aminyevskoye Highway and Krasnopresnenskaya Embankment.

As part of the exhibition, Tashir arranged a tour for international retailers, so a number of successful foreign retail companies interested in expanding on the Russian market got a chance to meet with Tashir representatives to discuss possibilities for cooperation.

MAPIC Russia is a platform that brings together the industry's leading experts, where companies get a chance to present their current and prospective projects and where one can get the latest market statistics. Russia's largest commercial real estate exhibition is annually attended by about 5,000 people from 24 countries, including 1,484 Russian and international developers who come together to discuss the latest market trends and review new projects.
